HERE'S WHAT THEY SAY

There were two main reasons why we decided to set up in Nantes: the proximity to Paris and the partnership with the University Hospital, which has just the right size to remain agile. As a dynamic and efficient hospital, it provides effective support for the companies it collaborates with. 👍👍

OWKIN
Camille Marini

Technical Director of the Machine Learning platform

The city of Nantes offers numerous advantages, such as a fabric of biotechnology companies, an array of high-level public and academic research teams, significant public incentives that help biotechnology SMEs and a high-quality living environment, and all while maintaining very accessible operating costs. 👍👍

PHERECYDES PHARMA
Jérôme Gabard

CEO

For us, local anchoring is essential to the good performance of the company, and the Nantes environment is instrumental in this dynamic. We have an active and large ecosystem that enables every player to be identified. This facilitates collaborations and partnerships, especially with bodies such as the Gérontopôle of Pays de la Loire (ageing and longevity cluster), Atlanpole and Nantes Métropole. 👍👍
